

Grecian foxglove look alike

Grecian foxglove (Digitalis lanata) may be confused with other Digitalis species and with Penstemon species, since all have clusters of tubular flowers in the upper portion of the plant.

Grecian foxglove flowers are white with brown venation in the cup.
Other Digitalis species have yellow flowers.

Digitalis species have alternate leaves, while Penstemon species have opposite leaves.