

Hemp nettle look alike

Hemp nettle (Galeopsis tetrahit) is a member of the mint (Lamiaceae) family and may be confused with other mints. Like other members of the mint family, it has square stems, opposite leaves, and tubular flowers.

To distinguish HEMP NETTLE from other mints, look for the combination of characteristics that includes hairy stems, swollen nodes along the stem, egg-shaped leaves, and hairy pink or white flowers.
